INSPECTORS WILLIAMS AND M'AVOY AND CAP-TAINS DOHERTY, STEPHENSON AND WESTERVELT WILL BE AR-RAIGNED, IT IS SAID.

At the next meeting of the Police Board it is expected that Superintendent Byrnes will make charges agains Inspectors Alexander S. Williams and Thomas F. McAvoy, and against Captains Michael Dollerty, John T. Stephenson and Josiah Westervelt. There was no meeting of the Board yesterday because Commissioners Martin and Sheehan had not returned from Albany, where they attended the tiovernor's reception on Monday evening. Friday is the next regular day for meeting, but the Commissioners may meet sooner to consider the charges. It is the rule for the Commissioners to approve of charges before ordering an inspector or a captain to appear before them for trial.

said to be preparing against two inspectors and way, and boasted that they cared nothing for the three captains are based on raids which he caused police. But Captain Williams pursued a vigorous to be made in three precincts by Central Office detectives. On Thursday night the detectives discovered an opium smeking place in the Iwentieth Precinct, and three gambling houses in the Second Freeinst. Next day the Com-Byrnes, transferred Captain Westervelt from the Twentieth Precinct to the Central Office, and sent Captain Stephenson from the Second Precinct to the Seventh Precinct. To make those changes the Commissioners also moved three other captains to new posts of duty. Captain Price going from the Central Office to the Twentieth Precinct, Captain Delaney from the Seventh Precinct to the

INSPECTOR THOMAS F. M'AVOY. Hail to the Second Precinct. At the same time six precinct detectives were remanded to patrol duty. Two of them had served in the Church-st. squad under Captain Stephenson, two had been with Captain Westerveit in the West Thirtyeventh-st. station, and two had been in the was a rumor at the time that Central Office decetives had found a gambling house running in Captain Doherty's precinct, but there had been to raid, and Doherty was not transferred to another precinct.

On Monday night Detective-Sergeants Crowley, Killilea, McCloskey, Hanley and Trainer made a descent upon the gambling house at No. 148 East Fourteentiast, within Captain Doherty's territory. They captured seven prisoners, including Benjamin White, the alleged proprietor of the place, and seized a roulette wheel, several "laydeal boxes, check racks and tables and about 3,000 chips. White had $240 in his possession when he was arrested. At Police Headquarters, where the prisoners were locked up, Isaac Leichtag, a clothier, of No. 334 East Seventyfourth-st., said that he had been induced to enter the gambling house, and had been swindled out of $147. He was a witness at the Tombs Police Court yesterday, and White was held for trial on the charge of running the gambling house. The other prisoners were fined $5 each. Captain Doherty was before Superintendent Byrnes at the Central Office yesterday, but it was said that his explanations regarding his failure to close up the gambling house were not satisfactory. Captain Doherty's precinct is in the district of Inspector Williams, while the Second and Twentieth Procincts are in Inspector McAvoy's district. A week ago Superintendent Byrnes called the inspectors and captains together and said-as he had done several times before—that he would held them to account if they permtteid gambling houses to be run in violation of law within their jurisdiction. It has been the rule to make charges against captains in whose precincts gambling houses were found by men from the Central Office. Superintendent Byrnes said to reporters yes-"When a gambling house is permitted to run unmolested for a considerable time, the responsibility for the failure to enforce the law lies with the inspector of the district and the captain of the precinct. The inspector's duty is to see that the law is enforced in his district uniformly. He should know of the existence of a gambling house in his district, if the house is visited by gamblers for a con-siderable time. The captain of a precinct cannot remain long in ignorance of the existence of a gambling house in the precinct if he attends his business. It is my duty to close sup such places if the inspectors and captain fall, and then to hold the inspectors and captains to account. Regarding the houses which have been 'raided' recently, some explanations have been made that were not satisfactory. I think it will be well to have the explanations made to the Commissioners.

The Superintendent would not admit or deny that he was preparing charges on which the two inspectors and three captains might be brought to trial before the Police Board. Commissioner McClave said he expected that such charges would be made. Inspectors McAvoy and Williams said they were not aware of any charges sgainst them. It is believed that the Commissioners will decide to place the inspectors and captains on trial.

Inspector Williams is in charge of the First Inspection District. He is a handsome man, more in six feet tall, and is one of the most attable of the men in the department. He has long been a terror to wrongdoers, and has been called Fighting Alex." His service in the Tenderloin District made him famous throughout the country. He was born at Cape Breton, Novia Scotia, in 1839, and learned the trade of ship carpenter. For many years he worked for W. H. Webb & Co., the well-known shipbuilding firm of this city. Later he made a tour of the world, and can claim the distinction of being the first American to lay the keel of a vessel in Japan.

When he applied to Police Commissioner Bergen, in August, 1866, for appointment as patrol man the Commissioner replied that he was a stranger to him and might have just come from State's prison. Williams was angry, and said . I want you to understand that I have never been any nearer to prison than you have ever

The would-be policeman indignantly walked away. He had gone only a few steps, however, when a policeman stopped him and said that Commissioner Bergen wanted to see him. Williams got his appointment. While he was attached to the Broadway Squad he was made a roundsmanin July, 1871. Two months later he was promoted to be a captain, and was assigned to the Twenty-first Precinct. In 1876 he was placed in charge of the district now known as the Nineteenth District, having been in charge of the Eighth and Fourth precincts prior to that time. He went to the "Tenderloin Disrict" at a time when criminals had things almost their own sloop yacht Nellie. Inspector McAvoy is a native of this city, and was born August 17, 1848. He was educated at Manhattan College, pursuing a commercial course, and was graduated when sixteen years of age. He then became a grocer's clerk and remained at this work until January 20, 1870, when he was appointed a policeman. A year later he was made a roundsman. While acting in that ospacity his superior officers said of him that he was "a temperate, good, honest man." He is about six feet in height and is solidly built. He has made a good record as a disciplinarian. The Inspector passed the earlier part of his service uptown. On many occasions he risked his own life to save others. He was asleep in the Carmansville Station when his appointment as sergeant was made. He was awakened by the men who rushed up to the dormitory. lifted him on their shoulders, carried him downstairs and scated him in the sergeant's chair. On December 8, 1800, he was promoted to the rank of captain and received command of the station at Harlem. Later he was transferred to the West Forty-seventh-st, station, and then to the Thirty-second Frecinct. He alone passed the recent civil-service examination for the inspector-ship made vacant by the promotion of Chief Inspector Steers, receiving a percentage of 94.6. He was put in charge of the Second Inspection District. CAPTAIN JOSIAN WESTERVELT. strict. Captain John T. Stephenson is one of the young Captain Michael Doberty has been commended in the past for his discipline and good work. He was born in Ireland in 1845. When seventeen years old, having already grown to a height of five feet eleven inches, he enlisted in the First Life Guards. He soon afterward came to this constity and was appointed a patrolman on December 22, 1870. He was promoted to the rank of roundsman on April 17, 1871. He became a sergeant on July 7, 1887, and for several months acted as captain in the Old Slip station. His promotion to captain was made on December 8, 1899. He has been a persevering officer. Some of the most interesting features of his police work were the arrest of "Big Walter," who tried to murder his wife in Stanton-st, several years ago, and the capture of John Baum, alias "Dutch John," a noted burglar, who is now serving a term in prison in Trenton for attempted murder. Captain Josiah Westervelt was born in New-York State forty-seven years ago, and was a farm laborer before he came to this city. He poined the police force on February 21, 1867, and in the following year he was made a reundsman. In 1870 he was promoted to the rank of sergeant. For several years he served under Captain Williams at the Weat Thirriethest, station. His promotion to the rank of captain was in June, 1887. He was in command of the Harlem squad

NO ALL-NIGHT LICENSES GRANTED.

THE EXCISE BOARD HAS NOT YET SENT A LIST TO THE ALDERMEN

For eight or nine months, since the passage of the law authorizing the Excise Board to grant allnight liquor licenses, with the approval of the hoard of Aldermen, the Tammany rulers of this city, official official, have been struggling with a mass of applications for this sort of license, but have got the low figure of $190 a year. In the list of applicants may be found the names of a few persons who want the privilege of serving wine at balls after 1 a. m., but most of the applicants are "gin-mill" keepers of the lowest character.

On December 22 a list of more than 200 liquor dealers was printed conspicuously in all the Demo cratte morning papers, accompanied by the statement, which purported to be official, that this list of applicants for all-night ficenses had received the ap-proval of the Board of Excise, and would be transmitted to the Board of Aldermen for approval. This statement has been found to be incorrect and unfounded, but although several weeks passed, no pub-lished denial apparently came from the Excise Roard. Chief Clerk Michael F. Blake, of the Board of Alder-men, was asked yesterday if any list of applicants. for all-night licenses had yet been received from the

"None whatever," replied Mr. Blake. "The only exception is the all-night license that was issued to Edward Ferrero last October, so that the Columbian banquet could be continued until after 1 a. m. if desired. It turned out that nobody wanted to drink wine after 1 a. m. on that occasion, and the license was returned by Mr. Ferrero for cancellation. Not a single name has since been sent in by the Board of Excise. Why there has been so much delay. I am not informed. The present Temmony Excise Board has been persistent in its claims that in spite of the growth of the city there is no increase in the number of liquor licenses granted. But its members and spelogists do not explain that as fast as licenses are surrendered by dealers who find the business unprofitable in depopulated districts downtown new ones to take their place are issued for the sections of the city in new and growing neighborhoods further This practice is an evasion of the spirit of the law, and the fresh licenses are often granted of the law, and the fresh licenses are often granted in the new districts in defiance of the protests of Catholic and Protestant clergymen, and of well-known citizens of high character. But the Tammany bosses order the licenses to be granted and the rumalops are opened by the Tammany Board under the very shadow of the church and the school, and in close proximity to the homes of the people.

Mr. sanger said to a Tribune reporter vestorday : "My friends assure me that I have differn votes. As president of the Board of Education I will favor a change in the system of salaries of teachers so as to grade it according to the time of service and the ment of the teacher. At present a tencher may be wenty years on a salary of $750. There should be a gradation of saluries so that the teachers can look forward to better pay as they improve and become more experienced in their profession. Then I will favor a new method of appointing teachers. At present any woman by passing an examination under the school superintendent can become a school teacher, and it will take sixtem out of the twenty one commissioners to remove her. I believe that all teachers should be engaged for one year on probation. I also favor a limited and conditional pensioning of school teachers."

DECISION IN FAVOR OF L. L. LORILLARD. Judge Ingraham yesterday gave a decision reversing the action of the Tax Commissioners and cancelling a 12x in the sum of $100,000 upon the personal prop-erty of Louis L. Lorillard for the year 1501. Mr. Lorillard protested against this tax on the ground that he was not a resident of New York, but of New port, R. I. He began proceedings in the Supreme Court in the latter part of November to review the action of the Tax Commissioners. He testified that since his marriage, nineteen years ago, he had lived in this city, in Newport and abroad, and that he be-longed to clubs in New-York, Newport, Boston, England and France. Catherine Lorillard Wolfe diel in 1887, and left him her house, Vintanil, in Newport, valued at $400,000. Since then he had lived there, attended church, paid taxes, voted and educated his children there. In registering at hotels he always signed himself from Newport. In his opinion Judge ingraham says: "The relator is taxed upon his personal estate mays: "The relator is taxed upon his personal estate in Rhode Island, has been so taxed for six years, he cotes in the city of Newport, R. L., and he spends part of the winter in New-York, but this cannot be east to be his residence. To hold the relator liable for taxes in New-York would be to tax his personal estate both in New-York and Rhode Island, which would be a double taxstion."
